Dear Industry Colleague,

We cordially invite you to represent your company at the GGBN 2018 Conference which will take place from May 22-25, 2018 in Vienna, Austria. It will be jointly organized by the AIT Austrian Institute of Technology, the Global Genome Biodiversity Network (GGBN), the University of Natural Resources and Life Sciences (BOKU) and the Austrian Association of Molecular Life Sciences and Biotechnology (ÖGMBT).

The GGBN 2018 Conference will bring together scientists working on long-term preservation of genomic samples representing the diversity of non-human life on Earth, DNA and tissue collections, establishing standards for genomic samples, improving best practices for the preservation and use of such collections. A focus will be laid on the characterization of these collections using state-of-the-art genotyping and sequencing methodologies (SNP chip, high throughput genotyping-by-sequencing). Sponsorship at this international conference will give your company maximum visibility and contact opportunities to the decision makers in this field.

Scientific sessions will address

- Biodiversity – current challenges, future chances
- Forest biological diversity – losses and gains
- Why agricultural diversity matters
- The hidden biodiversity
- Amazing animals ex and in situ
- Biodiversity Biobanks: Sampling & Preservations
- Biodiversity Biobank Data and Analytics
- ABS & Nagoya protocol

The company exhibition will take place from May 23-25 at the University of Natural Resources and Life Sciences (BOKU).

A separate exhibition possibility will be available at the public part of the conference on May 22, which will take place at the Natural History Museum. For further information please contact the congress office.
➢ To book your desired package, please return the “Registration Form” at your earliest convenience. Space for exhibitors and other packages will be given on a first come, first serve basis.
